Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Hand-Book of Anglo-Saxon Orthography The Literary Association, anticipating the inquiries which this work must awaken, introduce themselves at once to the reader. The following statement, it is hoped, will meet all such inquiries. The Association was called into existence by the increased interest in education which has marked the history of our nation for the last ten years. They were placed at once in circumstances in which they had to examine the school literature of the United States. At the close of this investigation, which extended through years, the Association, though profoundly impressed by the activity of the American mind in this department of letters, could not avoid the conviction that the school-books had not been prepared with sufficient reference to the laws of the human mind. With this impression, the Association entered upon a new field of labor. They proceeded to interrogate the human mind, and ascertain its general laws. They freely discussed such questions as these: Does the mind grow? Is its growth the unfolding of native energies? How does it grow? By what laws By what methods? For instance, How does the human mind acquire language? In answering the last question, it was ascertained that the mind first acquires the names of things, or nouns; next, the names of qualities, or adjectives; and then, the names of actions, or verbs; and that this seems to be a law of the human mind. The Hand-Book of Anglo-Saxon Orthography grew out of the discovery of this and other laws of the human mind. In executing it, the Association proceeded to a careful analysis of the English language. They ascertained it to be a...
