B-283107 The Rail Passenger Service Act of 1970 created Amtrak to provide intercity Background passenger rail service. Like all major national intercity passenger railroads in the world, Amtrak has received substantial government support, including federal capital funds. However, the Amtrak Reform and Accountability Act of 1997 ( Amtrak Reform Act ) prohibited Amtrak from using federal funds for operating expenses, except for an amount equal to 5 excess Railroad Retirement Tax Act payments, after 2002. To help accomplish this goal, the Amtrak Reform Act provided Amtrak with flexibility to address certain costs. It eliminated a statutory ban on contracting out work that would result in employee layoffs ( except food and beverage service that could already be contracted out ) and made contracting out work a part of the collective bargaining process. It also abolished labor protection arrangements that provided up to 6 years of compensation for employees who lost their jobs because of the discontinuance of intercity passenger rail service on a route or certain other actions. The Amtrak Reform Act required negotiations with the unions over the...
