Anatomy of an Execution: The Life and Death of Douglas Christopher Thomas

By Marie Deans, Todd C. Peppers, Laura Trevvett Anderson

Northeastern University Press. Hardback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Anatomy of an Execution: The Life and Death of Douglas Christopher Thomas, Marie Deans, Todd C. Peppers, Laura Trevvett Anderson, It is an undisputed fact that Chris Thomas was guilty of participating in a brutal double homicide. He was convicted of killing his girlfriend's parents in November of 1990, was sentenced to death in November of 1991, and was executed by the Commonwealth of Virginia in January of 2000. Chris Thomas was one of the last juvenile offenders to be put to death before the Supreme Court ruled that the execution of juveniles constituted cruel and unusual punishment. In Anatomy of an Execution, Todd C. Peppers and Laura Trevvett Anderson tell the entire story, shedding light on issues surrounding the death penalty-such as the quality of court appointed counsel, the execution of juveniles (from both a constitutional law and public policy perspective), conditions of confinement on death row, and the role of spiritual advisors in the condemned's last days. While providing insight into the legal workings of the modern death penalty system, the book also offers a rare glimpse of a young, condemned man's life before and after the crime: a...
