In the motto so happily adopted for the International Health Exhibition, the right end and object of athletics, which we may define as physical exercise and recreation, is tersely and truly expressed. It would be hard to say how much that concerns intimately not only the happiness and usefulness of individual life, but also the good of society, and the future of the race, is involved in the right appreciation of the truth contained in this little form of sound words. They commend that which is as often overlooked by the enthusiastic advocate of intellectual progress as it is neglected by the thoughtless worshipper of physical prowess. They are a standing rebuke to those who would take one side only of human nature under their care, and leave the other to take care of...
